New Snap-on® MicroLithium Cordless Nibbler Kit promises precision cutting power

KENOSHA, Wis. (July 30, 2024) – The new American-made Snap-on® 14.4 MicroLithium Cordless Nibbler Kit effortlessly slices through up to 16-gauge mild steel and most nonferrous materials like aluminum, brass, laminates, fiberglass, and high-density fiberboard.

Featuring an adjustable anvil for forward, backward, and left/right cutting, the CTNIB761K2 allows cuts in any direction, providing versatility for cutting mild sheet metal and other auto body repairs, cutting in floor pans, rocker panels, and “patch” panels, as well as cutting straight, curved, and contoured materials. The variable-speed trigger ensures precise tool control, while over/under temperature protection keeps the tool operating efficiently even in demanding conditions. With a cushion grip handle and a built-in battery charge gauge, this tool provides comfort and uninterrupted workflow. This kit delivers optimal performance in every application with an impressive 2,300 strokes per minute.

For more information about the new CTNIB761K2 or other Snap-on tools and products, contact your participating Snap-on franchise or visit www.snapon.com.
